

My neighbourhood is quiet but lively. Unfortunately it is old and in ruins. The teenagers meet in a building or a park and somewhere else to play football. We listen to music or sit around a table to speak about the old time with nostalgia or we play cards to kill time. There is a very good atmosphere and people are happy.

This is a city with big buildings, but there is also a park called L'Île Marante. In May, it is exciting because there are various activities which can be creative, sporty or cultural. The city centre is busy, with children jumping and running after school, with old people shopping.

I live in Asnières and my neighbourhood is called Les Freycinet. When the weather is fine, everybody is outside and we organize barbecues. While my friends and I play football, the "Big Brothers" ride their motorbikes. There is a very good atmosphere as it is very small, everybody knows everybody, like in a family. I love my neighbourhood even if it is very hard these days. I've lived there for 17 years and will stay all my life.

My sister said: "Just look! Isn't it beautiful?" Most of the big wheels are slow but the big wheel in Paris is fast and you can see many beautiful colours which provide joy. When we were up there, we could see cars, people taking photos with a clown, boats on the river Seine, the sunset on the Eiffel Tower and even the leaves of the trees swept by the wind.

My district is vast and crowded. In my district, people are friendly and nice. We can play with friends, go to the fast food restaurant and have fun. Life is good and joyful, and we want to succeed. This place makes me feel happy and safe.

New York is "The City That Never Sleeps", Colombes is the city that is never boring. I love this city, I have lived there for 16 years with my family. In Colombes, sport is something important. I play soccer in the big club of the city called Le Racing Club de France. Sport is a way of being together. Colombes is never boring but it is also beautiful. Ah, I love living here.

My area is very exciting because it's welcoming with its gardens, its parks and its lakes. I live there with my family and all my friends. The people who live in my area are very nice and form a big family. I get on well with them.

In the summer, everyone is in the streets and in winter, my neighbours and I meet in a big hall and speak of all topics. It is very pleasant because there is a good atmosphere. I like my neighbourhood, I'm never bored and life is restful there.

In Algiers, the best period is summer time. I can feel the sun on my skin, I can smell the sea. There is a lot of traffic and there are many people in buses, but everyone is friendly and easy-going. I like the atmosphere in the evening very much. It is great to watch a match of the national football team with my family and have an ice cream. At the end of the summer, I'm sad to return to France, but I keep memories and I think of the next summer.

When people hear "Levallois", they think of a rich area. My town is not only rich, it is also beautiful and the inhabitants are convivial. But the best is in spring when the parks and gardens are full of children. For example, Le Parc de la Planchette is a big garden with a lot of plants and flowers where people go running in the morning. In the centre there is another park with games for children. And when I go there with my little brother, I feel happy to see him play and laugh.
